

Jack Fields Parents: we are looking for students caught reading!

We want to spotlight students who "get caught reading" on a special board that will be in the main hallway. Research shows that seeing others read is a strong motivator that encourages reading for all, especially if they see their peers doing it. If you catch your child reading at home, out in public, or anywhere, please take a candid photo of them reading and email it to us so we can post it on the bulletin board.

Please email pictures to Emily.Lane@humbleisd.net.

Thank you for helping to inspire our students!

Emily Lane
Reading Interventionist

